

Automatic Backwash Filter L5600F

*Simply set it and forget it.
The L5600 Filter Valve Series*

Exclusive System Features

- Combining a filtration system with your water conditioner is the easiest, most convenient way to further improve the taste, smell, clarity and overall quality of your water
- Engineered for simple, straightforward, fully automatic filtering
- Rugged durability stands up to heavy use year after year
- Easily programmed with two simple settings

During normal filtration, untreated water enters the system through an inlet at the top of the media tank. As it seeps down through the filtering bed, foreign particles, unpleasant odors and tastes are trapped and absorbed by the various filtering media, producing treated water at the tank bottom.

During the backwash cycle, the flow is reversed. Water flowing upward expands, cleansing the media bed by loosening and carrying away trapped particles.
